Written and performed by Israeli artist Nir Paldi, BALLAD is a semi-autobiographical play that examines the ongoing conflict between Israel and Palestine through a family story, leading to a song and dance extravaganza that tells incredibly thought-provoking good theatre.

Politically the piece explores all sides of the conflict between Israel and Palestine and is best suited for a centrist (rather than extreme left or extreme right) audience who are open to all perspectives.

BALLAD is performed by the original cast with artists from Israel, Toronto, UK, Japan and Austria!
